Board approves 4.7% budget increase

by Andrew Milne

It took four motions, and around an hour, but they came to a decision.

And the verdict is: $17,197,866 -- the Haliburton County Board of Education's budgeted expenditures for 1995-1996. It represents an increase of just under one percent in overall expenditures, and will mean an increase of between four and five percent over last year's local tax rates.

The reason for the more significant increase to the local ratepayers, the board is quick to point out, is a $650,000 reduction in the size of the grant received by the board from the Ministry of Education and Training (MOET).

What took so long at the April 25 meeting of the board was a decision regarding three items in particular: a $35,000 cut from the building maintenance budget, a $40,000 cut from a computer initiative, and $100,000 drawn from a reserve set up to pay for legal costs related to social contract negotiations.

In the first resolution the board voted on, the former two items would not have been budgeted, and the $100,000 would be cut from the reserves. The overall approach, say board members, was to cushion the blow to the local ratepayer, of the reduction in provincial funding.

But several board members had difficulty with this. Craig Pettit, trustee for Glamorgan, Trevor Pawson of Stanhope, and Wendy Ladurantaye of Anson, Hindon, and Minden all spoke to the motion, expressing the concerns (1) that the maintenance budget was too small, considering the overall value of the buildings in the possession of the board, and that maintenance delayed only becomes more expensive, (2) that the cut from the budget for computer initiatives would very directly affect students in an area in which they are already poorly served, and (3) that cutting the reserve amount would leave the board vulnerable in the event an emergency should arise at a later date for which the money would be needed.

The initial motion failed, narrowly defeated in a vote of seven for, eight against. And then it was down to the haggling. The board tried two more motions, with variations on including and removing these items from the budget.

The motion that eventually passed approved only the amount of the computer initiative -- the $40,000. The reserves and the maintenance amount were cut.

Many members of the board also expressed concern that the board could even hope to keep the reduction so low in a year in which debentures begin on the additions and renovations to the Archie Stouffer facility in Minden.

Said Pawson, "I think it's really important to remember that we've got half a million dollars in debentures for Archie Stouffer and we've still managed to keep the budget down. I think that if we're able to build beautiful schools but not keep up the schools we already have, in taking the money out of the maintenance budgets I think it is a real mistake. And building nice new schools but not being

by Andrew Milne

Executive director Frank Lussing of St. Joseph's Hospital says that, despite concerns raised by residents of Minden and the local medical community, the in-patient ward of the Minden hospital will remain closed.

Lussing also says he never specifically asked Med-Emerg whether they were interested in providing in-patient care at the Minden hospital, though he felt there was a reluctance on the service's part to get involved.

"I didn't ask them," said Lussing. "It's not in the contract. The contract is for out-patient and emergency services... We talked about in-patient services. And on balance, and because of the views on this end about the need for continuity in physician coverage, we did not include in the contract any expectation of in-patient services."

"Basically," said Lussing, "we're not interested in having Med-Emerg providing in-patient serv-

Last week, Lussing had told The Times, "Med-Emerg would prefer not to be involved in inpatient care either. They've made that point. They will if we're desperate. But basically their business is to provide support for ambulatory care — or rather outpatients and emergency services."

Doug Campbell, a member of the local ad-hoc committee which suggested to Lussing that Med-Emerg be used to provide services at the Minden hospital in the wake of Doctor Antony Holliday-Rhodes' unexpected departure, said he was told otherwise. He says the ad-hoc committee had hoped in-patient services would be provided, and had asked the service whether this would be a problem.

"That question was asked specifically," says Campbell, "and they cited the fact that down around London — in fact across the province — but in around London, Clinton, in that area down there — they take over the emerge and the in-patient care every weekend so the doctors can have a weekend off. And the practice is quite commonly accepted across the province."

Doctor Steven Dawson, who runs one of the clinics in Minden, wrote a letter April 26 to the community advisory committee St. Joseph's set up to advise their board on matters related to health care in the catchment areas of the Haliburton and Minden hospitals. In his letter he indicated to the committee that he too had contacted Med-Emerg and had been told that "the question of providing services to in-patients was not discussed" (Dawson's words — the full text of his letter begins on page 9). Dawson concluded by saying he supports the reinstatement of 24-hour coverage of the emergency department and the provision of in-patient services at Minden hospital. He has also offered his own services towards covering shifts at the hospital.

Medical records are secure

by Andrew Milne

A College of Physicians and Surgeons source says confidential medical records of a doctor who has left his practice generally become the custody of any remaining doctor in the practice, and that doctor is required to maintain those records.

However, patients of any clinic wishing to transfer to another doctor, need only contact that practice about doing so, to have copies of their records transferred.

Protocol requires that medical practices retain their original copies of the records for a period of time. Normally, says Doctor Laurel Dempsey of the College, this means copies of the records are transferred to the patient's new doctor, and the originals remain in the care of the current practice.

Patients are also entitled to have copies of the records released directly to them, says Dempsey.

There may be a charge for the service, as it is not covered by OHIP. Should patients ever encounter great difficulties or delays in getting this done, they are also free to contact the College, which would then apprise the doctor of his responsibilities in this matter. The College is listed under 'Physicians and Surgeons' in the yellow pages.

Dr. Antony Holliday-Rhodes of the Rhodes Medical Clinic in Minden unexpectedly left his practice and returned to his native England April 17. The remaining doctor in the practice, Dr. Bennett Wu, therefore, retains custody of the original records, and is required to maintain them for former patients of Doctor Holliday-Rhodes.

Board of Education approves $4.75 million expenditure

High school addition gets green light

by Andrew Milne

The Haliburton County Board of Education moved April 26 to go ahead with a $4.75 million addition to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Not all of the trustees present were entirely happy with the motion however. Nor do all of them who voted for it want to see the price tag paid without some haggling.

Says Anson, Hindon and Minden trustee Brian Kernohan, who voted against the motion, "Basically my concern is the total dollar figure."

Kernohan explains that at the special board meeting April 25, at which the board had considered issues related to the project, two options in particular had been considered — the $4.75 million option, and a second possibility for the addition/renovation project, which would have been around $800,000 cheaper.

Says Kernohan, "Because of the way the architect has laid out the plan there was some amount of money to be spent on the administration part and some on the staffing part — staffing rooms and that kind of thing. I'm not sure that we can't find some other way to satisfy those needs. For instance if you increase the size of the cafeteria and get the students out of the classrooms where they're currently eating, then you free up some room space for staff. And that's something that we've got to go through and talk about and we will be talking about it."

"And if we can bring that dollar figure down then it's a bonus," he concludes.

Therefore, says Kernohan, he voted against the motion to express this concern.

Wally Bunn, also representing Anson, Hindon and Minden, voted against the motion as well. He says his concern is that there were other options considered by the board at the earlier meeting which seemed to him to be more attractive, in that they spent less on administration, and more on the classroom areas — in particular, he questions whether the $200,000 to be spent on the sick bay, and $70,000 on the lobby are really necessary.

"I'm definitely not against an addition to the school," says Bunn. "We all agree it has to be done. But I think that some of the spending on administration isn't too realistic."

The April 26 motion technically does mean the board could spend as much as $4.75 million on the addition. But it is quite clear at this point that certain trustees only voted for the motion with the understanding that it represents nothing more than a statement of what the board wants to do to the school — with the price to be scaled down if at all possible. Chip Trueman, representing Dysart et al, speaking to the motion April 26, asked specifically, before voting for it, whether passing the motion still meant the board could spend less.

The planned addition to the school will add a triple gymnasium, new music facilities, a science wing, and a new cafeteria complex to the facility. Currently, the high school runs a music room in converted gymnasium space and science facilities badly in need of updating. The Ministry of Education and Training will be funding approximately $1.4 million of the project.

Budget approved

Said Ladurantaye on the maintenance issue, "I'm thinking that years ago when it was really tough around this county, one of the things we had to pay for over the years was that the buildings had not been maintained properly. I wouldn't want to see that process repeated in another few years because it's tough for a number of years in a row and we keep cutting that out and keep cutting that out, and then when the economy turns around a little bit you can't put money into the system for the kids because you're paying your building expenses."

But other trustees seemed to feel that in a year in which improvements, renovations and additions have recently been done or will soon be done to many of the board's schools, it should not be unreasonable to expect maintenance to cost a little less.

Superintendent of education Dale Robinson, asked to explain what the impact would be of cutting from the computer initiatives, said that the board had hoped to participate in an initiative partially sponsored by the MOET and IBM, which would allow the board to do around $400,000 worth of improvements for a local cost of $150,000.

Said Robinson, "You all know what our grant rate is. The reason that's so attractive to us is that those sort of support dollars aren't around any more anywhere... Our labs in our elementary school are in bad shape. In Hodgson and in Archie Stouffer, we're running on Icons, some of them Icon I models, which came out in the seventies. They're breaking down, and they won't run the software we want to use."

AHM council scores 0%

by Jerry Grozelle

The municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden has held its share of the tax levy to a zero per cent increase. Reeve Jeanne Anthon read the following prepared statement at last Thursday's council meeting:

The council of Anson, Hindon and Minden has completed the 1995 budget and we are pleased to announce the target of zero tax increase has been achieved while maintaining current service levels and participating in the infrastructure job-creating programs.

Council and staff members have worked diligently to establish a budget that recognizes the economic constraints in our community. The aim is to provide excellence while coping with increased operating costs in the face of reductions in government funding and even total elimination of some support programs.

Challenges of 1995: The provincial and federal governments are promising "Empowerment to local municipalities. This may provide unprecedented local control but also means municipalities must assume the full costs of those new responsibilities. Council and staff are pursuing new ways of generating revenues without raising taxes but options appear few and opportunities decreasing.

Summary: This municipality has managed a "zero" tax increase for three years now. All departments have dug deep to trim costs and streamline operations. We must congratulate staff, especially in facilitating wise management of our municipality. This "good news" budget could not have been achieved without their dedication and support.

The mill rate and final budget cannot be passed until the education tax portion is established by the Haliburton County Board of Education and combined with municipal and county portions.

Council members said there was no magic formula that they used to prevent a tax increase with less support from the provincial government.

Other items discussed during the April 27 meeting:

Planning secretary

Council passed a resolution to authorize the hiring of a planning secretary. Sherry Rea will take on the duties starting today, May 1. She is a qualified planner who has worked for another municipality as well as the Ministry of Municipal Affairs, Plans Administration Branch.

Truck pull go-ahead

The Minden Kinsmen Club received approval of council to hold its eighth annual truck pull at the Minden fairgrounds on Saturday, June 17.

The approval was on condition that organizers provide proof of insurance for the event. The club will be required to pay a $50 rental for the public washrooms for the day.

Public Works superintendent Clayton Cameron said there will be a class for municipal trucks

A rehabilitation/captive breeding program re-introduces injured owls and their offspring to the forests of Canada.

by Andrew Milne

It's no more than a handful — a tiny bundle of feathers with huge, unblinking owl eyes and long, sharp claws. It looks up at its handler with what would be curiosity on human facial features.

It's a Northern Saw-Whet Owl, Aegolius acadicus, the smallest and one of the most common owls in this region. This one in particular is stretching its wings as though restless. It's dusk, around the time owls start to wake and become active. We're standing on a back road in a forest south of Minden.

Ron Pittaway, an ornithologist at the Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre, extends his arm, and lets go. The owl's wings beat, and it disappears into the gloom.

Pittaway, along with fellow bird enthusiasts Jean Iron and Betty Davies, is in among the evergreens to release nine of the tiny owls, sent here by the Owl Foundation near Vineland, in the Niagara Peninsula.

It's a rare and therefore golden opportunity for the birders to see the very secretive, strictly nocturnal creatures up close. Davies, Iron's mother, is visiting from her home in England, and is clearly enthralled with the creatures. "Aren't they adorable," she says, as the box containing the first pair is opened, and two pairs of those huge watchful eyes peer out.

When the second owl is released, in the vicinity of the first as per the Foundation's instructions, it flies only a short distance, landing on a branch approximately a hundred feet from the road. The birders break out the binoculars and take a good long look while the owl does the same, getting its bearings, looking around, waiting, probably, for the humans to go away and let it get about its business.

The Owl Foundation

Katherine McKeever is the founder of the Owl Foundation, the organization from whose grounds these owls come. Along with husband Larry, she has run the facility for 30 years now.

It's something of a passion for her, explains McKeever.

"It began as a tremendous curiosity," she says. "I've always been interested in predators. And it just happened to be owls. That's too long a story to get into, as to why owls, but I suppose that in the 30 years we've probably handled around 5,000 owls. We have at the moment on our premises about 180 owls, of which about 115 or 120 are permanent residents. These are unreleasable."

The foundation, explains McKeever, takes in injured owls — often struck by a vehicle (Pittaway says this is one of the most common causes of death in owls), and attempts to rehabilitate and/or breed them.

Of her permanent residents, she says, "They are not all badly damaged, but they have the kind of damages that would preclude survival in the wild. For example, they might have loss of hearing in one ear. The owl might look perfectly sound, but if it doesn't have balanced hearing it will starve to death, because in a nocturnal owl, that's the kiss of death... There are some owls here because they were imprinted to the human image, and we utilize them for foster-parenting incoming owls. They do a good job of that."

The permanent residents produce offspring. These too the foundation releases — preferably near the regions that produced their parents. The trick to breeding the birds, says McKeever, is to put several in one complex — say three males, and three females, and wait for a pair bond to form between two of them. This might take years. Once the bond forms, she says, you take the other owls out and try mixing them with others, hoping to get a good match.

In addition to rehabilitating and breeding the creatures, the Owl Foundation is a centre for the study of owl behaviour, second to none in the world. The 52 cage complexes (most consist of three very large outdoor cages connected by enclosed flight corridors designed to prevent the very wild owls from feeling too confined) are outfitted with closed circuit television monitoring, which allows the researchers to observe the birds without disturbing them.

Says McKeever, "If we went out and looked at them, they would never do anything. They would stop what they're doing and watch us. The great thing about these video cameras in their cages is they don't know we're looking."

And yes, she says, the foundation has contributed its share to what is known of owls.

Of Canada's 15 native species, some 12 have successfully bred at the foundation, all from permanently damaged wild owls. The progeny are then raised by their own parents, without human manipulation, and trained on appropriate live prey to help ensure survival in the wild.

Though the foundation, a registered Canadian charity, accepts donations, McKeever does have one warning for people interested in their programs: don't go visiting.

The simple fact is, she says, they can't be both a behavioral lab and a public facility. They can't afford to disturb the owls and don't have the staff to see visitors around on a regular basis. "We just cannot handle visitors," she says. "We can't let people in. And it's very embarrassing and hurtful if people have come a long way to have to explain to them why not.

Persecuted predators

Back in the woods near Minden, Pittaway is at the second release point. They release the birds in pairs — one male, one female to a site. The odd owl out in this batch of nine is a male — the female he was to be released with had laid a clutch of eggs just prior to being released, and the Foundation had decided that with her huge brood patch, they would have to wait before releasing her.

The tiny Saw-Whets, Pittaway explains, along with (more on page 5) for the "show and shine" portion. He will encourage municipal staff to shine up at least one of the municipality's trucks to enter the competition.

Township pins

Haliburton Rotary Club exchange student Bryn Gray will be taking a dozen Anson, Hindon and Minden pins when he leaves for Belgium on August 15. Councillor Daryl Moore said that since Minden is the county seat, a request from a Haliburton exchange student for pins was reasonable. The rest of council agreed. The vote was unanimous.

HCSA grant

The Haliburton County Snowmobile Association will receive a $2,000 grant from the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden. The grant was considered when the municipal budget was being prepared.

C of C support offered

Reeve Anthon told council that a letter had been received from Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce president Brian Dean.

"The Chamber of Commerce has offered support in any way it can to attract doctors to the area," she said.

Councillor Jerry Rome suggested that one way the chamber might help the cause would be to provide a package of material promoting the area that could be given to prospective medical recruits.

Citizenship award

Minden area resident John Hulbig was nominated by Anson, Hindon and Minden council for a Citizenship Award. Council received correspondence from the Ministry of Citizenship stating that Hulbig has been chosen for a 1995 Volunteer Service Award.

The awards ceremony will be held at Victoria Hall in Cobourg on Monday, May 15 at 7:30 p.m. other owls and birds of prey like hawks, are often persecuted by humans because they are predators. With programs like that of the foundation in place, he says, this is changing, however. Besides which, owls are now fully protected by Ontario law.

Though the Saw-Whets are still fairly common, he says, other species have not done so well, and are endangered. "The foundation is doing captive breeding for endangered species like the Burrowing Owl," he says. "It's very important if these birds ever become so low that we know how to breed them in captivity, and then we can help stock the wild. Apparently they're also releasing Barn Owls, which are very rare in Ontario — trying to bring them back into Southern Ontario."

Here, Iron opens the box, two compartments with two owls. The birds fly out, up and light on trees only a little way from the road, clearly in view of each other. Davies comes to within two feet of one, to take a picture, and it sits there watching her calmly. In the wild, Pittaway says, the Saw-Whet is normally as tame, and a birder lucky enough to see one can usually get pretty close. The bird's natural defense is just to sit there, perfectly still, which helps it avoid detection by larger predators such as hawks.

They don't look like they're going anywhere until we leave. "Should we wait?" asks Iron.

"They'll be all right," says Pittaway.

"They're just getting their bearings."

Correction

Last week's brief on the court appearance of Frank Wallace contained an error.

The copy in the paper on page six under the headline Wallace back in court May 3 described Wallace as charged with sexual 'molestation'.

This should have read sexual exploitation. The description of the nature of this charge is, however as in the story.

The Times regrets the error.

Transportation strategy for the county is in the works

by Jerry Grozelle

The response was positive when Bani Bawa, a representative of the Community Transportation Office (CTO) of the Ministry of Transportation, made her presentation at Haliburton County Home Support Services. The meeting was an introduction to a provincial government program that will make funds available for the co-ordination of transportation services. Communities are being encouraged to submit proposals and Bawa was in Haliburton to outline the program and explain the purpose and guidelines.

The term "community" is flexible in this case. It could be the entire county or it could include parts of neighbouring counties. It is up to the people who submit the proposal, what geographic guidelines they use.

The purpose of the program is to determine the transportation needs of a cross section of the population and to co-ordinate the existing transportation services (public and private) to provide the best possible service for everyone. The goal is also to eliminate duplication of services as much as possible.

The type of transportation includes the public, school, health and social sectors. Community transportation resources include staff, vehicles, facilities and overhead.

The Community Transportation Review was initiated by the Treasury Board in 1993 to review provincial government spending on public transportation.

From January 1993 to May 1993, a program and expenditure review was conducted. Stakeholder consultation and planning for implementation has been under way from June 1993 to the present.

Determining service gaps, duplication and unused capacity is a step toward managing existing pressures and preparing for expected future pressures. Transportation needs, especially those of elderly and disabled people are expected to increase.

Following the meeting, those interested in developing a transportation strategy for the county exchanged views and opinions on how best to approach the issue.

The co-ordination of community transportation services would help to address the needs of all users.

"Users may not even know what is available," Bawa pointed out. "Resources must be used more wisely to accommodate the demand."

Bawa pointed to an example in Toronto, where ambulances are being used to transport patients from one hospital to another within the city when some other form of non-emergency transportation would suffice.

"It costs $300 per passenger trip to move a patient from one hospital to another for specialized services," she said.

Some of the areas that may require attention include: the need to make public transit more accessible; the pooling of resources; and sharing such things as insurance costs and dispatch services.

"Co-ordination is the solution," Bawa said. "We need to improve planning and service delivery."

The CTO was established to assist communities by providing support, including funding of demonstration projects and by co-ordinating government ministries to resolve policy and legislative barriers.

Wednesday's meeting was to determine whether there was support for a project of this nature.

Representatives from a number of organizations related to transportation needs and services were present for the meeting. Among the organizations represented were: The Haliburton County Housing Corporation, the Long Term Care Committee, Haliburton County Home Support, Association for Community Living, Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home, Extendicare, Dymo Bus Committee, the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden, The County of Haliburton, a local taxi service, the area ambulance service, and others.

The general consensus was that there is a strong interest in forming a committee to pursue the transportation issue. Another meeting will be held in the near future.

Who's problem?

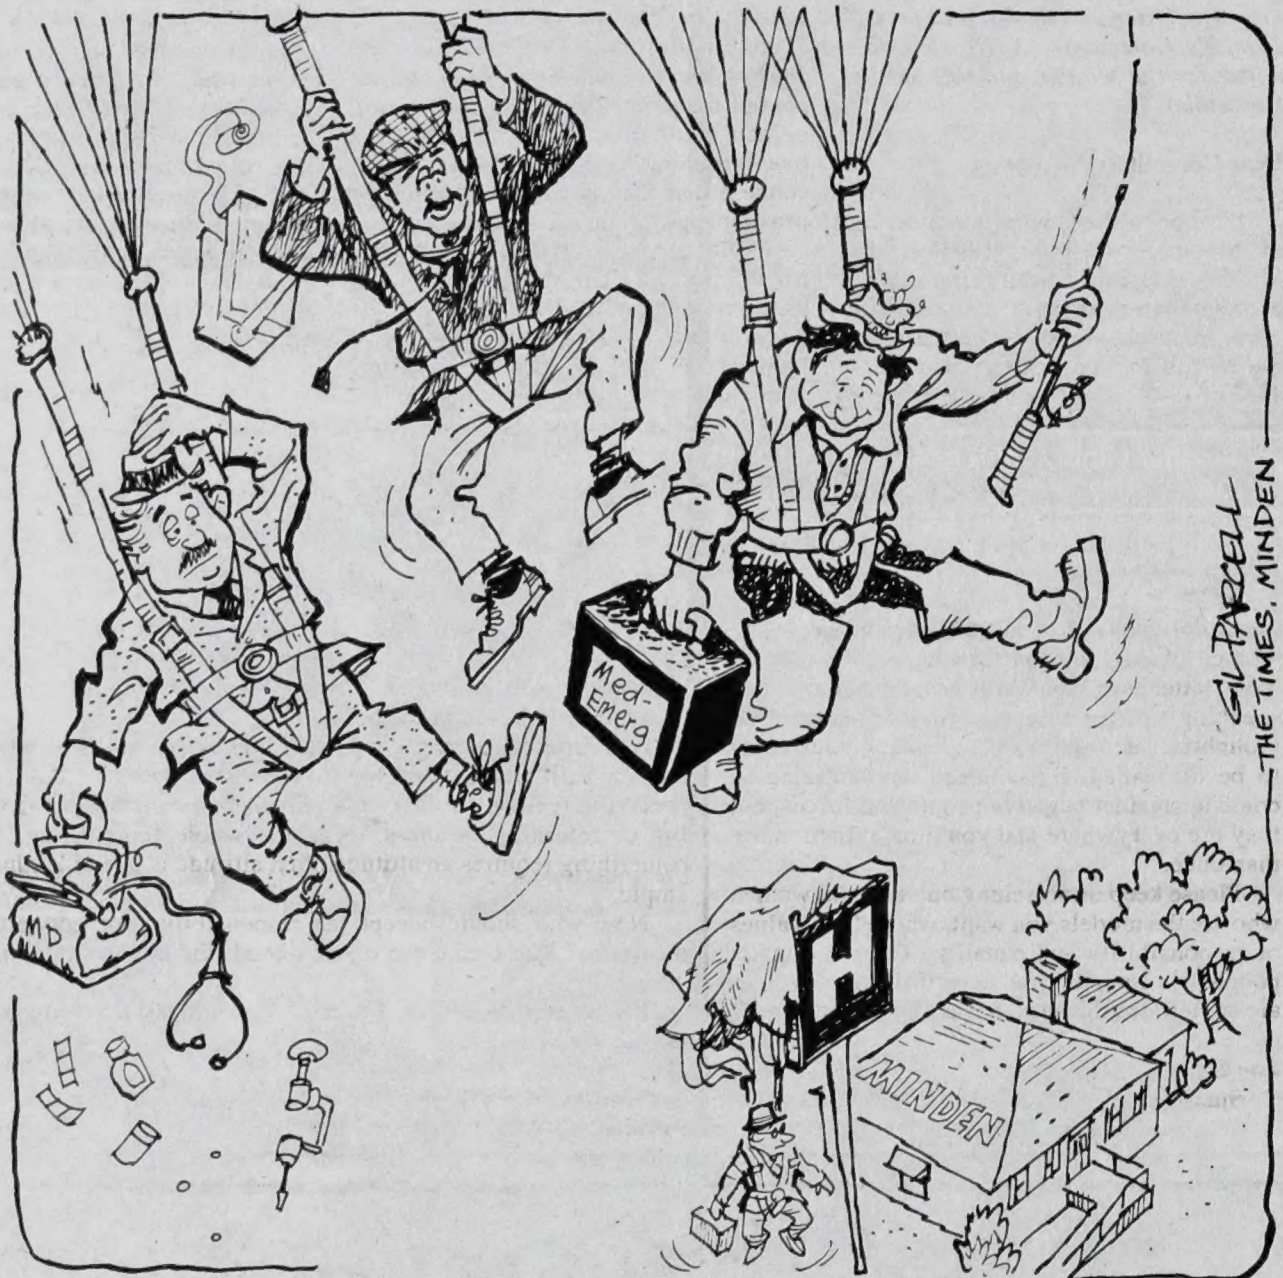

While some people may assume the closing of the in-patient beds at the Minden Hospital is just a "local issue" we suggest they take another look at exactly what has happened.

Two weeks ago, half the acute care beds serving the residents of Haliburton County and northern Victoria and Peterborough counties, were closed. Fifty percent of the in-patient hospital health care resources were there one day and the next day, they were gone.

The closure of the beds at the Minden Hospital raises a number of practical problems including: whether the Haliburton Hospital can handle the overflow created by the loss of half the in-patient beds; the frustrations associated with attempting to find other hospitals to accept these patients (no easy task in a province where bed closure announcements have become almost a daily occurrence); the logistics and costs associated with transporting patients who could well be looked after in Minden (because their condition is not critical); and finally the increased risk to the community while these ambulances are assigned the task of moving the patients to other hospitals.

Beyond the immediate practical aspects which follow as a result of the closing, we are concerned that, after a few weeks or months, the existing ten bed complement at the Haliburton Hospital will be seen as the status quo and that any effort to return to 19, with the re-opening of the Minden Hospital or the envisioned consolidation effort, will be stopped. It will be easy for some consultant to point out that the community muddled through with just ten beds, so why increase the number now. (Any statistical studies done in the past have already indicated that this area is grossly under-served when it comes to its complement of in-patient beds.) The current situation cannot be allowed to become the status quo.

Finally, we have to wonder where are the concerned representatives of the people while all this is happening. A crucial part of Haliburton County's health care system has been decimated. Our MPP is active, some of the reeves in the immediate Minden area are involved in seeking a resolution and a group of citizens is attempting to reactivate the closed facilities. Where is everyone else? Reeves from all ten municipalities (and the north Victoria/Peterborough group), lead by the county Warden, should be marching on the Health Minister's office demanding this situation be reversed. Likewise the Acting Health Services Board should be protesting this attack on its vision of health care for the service area, as should the area's trustees on the St. Joseph's Hospital Board. (The Hospital board meets Tuesday in Peterborough. Perhaps this might be the occasion for the public to let the board of trustees know the current situation is unacceptable.)

It is not too late for individuals to take up the cause, if the elected and appointed representatives are unwilling to do so. Especially now that a provincial election has been called, one can be assured that those who still hold the reins of power, and those who want to, will be very interested in the impact the closing of the beds is having on this community.

It was wrong to close the in-patient beds. It does little but create confusion, fear and mistrust. But it is certain little effort will be made to change the situation if those who control it think the community is passively accepting what has been forced upon us.

Alive and well

Editor:

The cuts in funding included in this year's federal budget mean that over the next three years support of the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) will be reduced by $540 million.

This action will bring problems and challenges to those who are involved in the work of human development, including HAVE (Help A Village Effort), the local group committed to the provision of water and other basic needs for village people overseas.

CIDA is still working out ways of dealing with the situation and we at HAVE will not know until the fall how it is going to affect us. We shall keep the public informed.

In the meantime we shall be looking at our position and continuing our work with the projects we are involved in.

HAVE is alive and well. See you at the Walk For Water June 3.

Dr. Dawson responds

(The following is the response prepared by Dr. Steve Dawson to the lack of doctors serving the Minden community. The letter was directed to the St. Joseph's Community Advisory Committee for the Minden and Haliburton Hospitals)

Dear Committee Members:

Further to the Committee meeting of Monday, April 24, 1995 at the Minden Hospital, I would first like to confirm the following:

1. According to Mr. Frank Lussing, the reason for temporary discontinuance of in-patient services was due to lack of physician availability. This was brought on as Dr. A. Holliday-Rhodes had suddenly left the community without warning on his day on call, April 17, 1965. This left only Dr. M. Chayer and Dr. S. Warsi to cover Emergency and In-patient services. Either physician being on call on alternate days was felt to be overburdening to them and there was a concern that they could not continue to provide appropriate services necessary.

2. According to Mr. Frank Lussing, Med Emerg was willing to supply physicians to be on call for 16 hours out of a 24 hour day for Emergency Department patients only and specifically, they would not be willing to see in-patients.

3. Dr. M. Chayer and Dr. S. Warsi wished to continue the 24 hour on call services for both Emergency patients and In-patients providing that neither would have to be on call more than 25% of the time. We were to investigate the possibility of Med Emerg covering 25% of both Emergency and in-patient services on a 24 hour basis. If so, I would be willing to provide 25% of the same, thus allowing return of full 24 hour In-patient and Emergency services.

4. As Dr. M. Chayer and Dr. S. Warsi would be immediately able to provide collectively 50% of the 24 hour call of

Appalled by Bark Lake closure

Editor:

As a taxpayer in Haliburton County, I am appalled by the sudden decision of the NDP government to close the Bark lake Leadership camp and put 18 employees out of work. After investing millions of dollars in upgrading this facility, it is unbelievable that Bob Rae would sacrifice this establishment when it is becoming more self-sufficient. Instead of promoting tourism in this community, made in Toronto decisions are being pushed upon us.

We need to create more jobs, not reduce them. It is sad when a government that raised our tax burden so high has progressively spent less and less dollars in the tourism industry, an industry which is so vital to the economy of our community.

On a positive note, I am pleased to hear that a number of local people are seeking alternatives that would enable Bark lake to remain a viable enterprise in the Haliburton region. I wish them every success and would be proud to support them in their endeavour.

Sharon McCrae,

Thank you for speaking up

Editor:

Hallelujah! and congratulations to the young women of Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Your letter was wonderful and I thank you for speaking up—for insisting on intelligence and thoughtfulness, and for not allowing yourselves to be demeaned. It is indeed demoralizing to come up against negative people and forces, but they are everywhere and you'll meet them more than once.

Please keep on searching out men and women who are the models you want, who reflect values of responsibility and equality. There are many people who support you, even if the other voices are sometimes the ones that are heard most.

Zoe Chilco,
Carnarvon.

Editor:

First off, I would like to thank you girls for writing (letters April 24) to me. I am especially pleased at your sense of awareness for the happenings around you. Although I am in agreement with you on dual responsibility, I wish to further the point.

At fourteen a young girl is still honing her skills at how to attract boys...a skill you will develop for the rest of your life. But it is very important to realize that in a situation where meanness is being used, copying or returning meanness keeps the whole thing going. So to stop something requires an attitude...that attitude is one of kindness, for example.

Now who should accept the responsibility for not returning that meanness? The birthplace of childhood, the mother, the female, that's who.

Responsibility is dual. But the originator and the changer of attitude is you...the female.

Gone to the dogs

I've always thought of a dog lover as a dog that was in love with another dog.

James Thurber.

Ah, Thurber, thou shouldst be living at this hour. The 1990's are curb to curb and chock a block with dog lovers, all of them two-legged. Why, just this week I've seen a Bouvier with a red bow on its head, a poodle with — I swear — pink fur and a low-slung mutt of indeterminate origins wearing plastic booties on its paws.

We have strange ways of showing our love, we dog lovers.

For one thing, we name our canines. Nomadic Indians used to keep dogs, but they didn't waste their breath naming them. Same with the Inuit — you think all those ravening teams of barely domesticated huskies answered to sobriquets like Rover, Spot and Lassie?

I personally am responsible for giving the world pooches called Willie, Shiner, Duchess, Toke (It was the 60's), Angus, Beulah, and my current resident canine freeloader and layabout, Rufus.

I thought a background like that might give me special insight into the Dog Name Game.

Until I heard about Bairbre O'Malley. Ms. O'Malley is a veterinarian who practices in London, England and has done so for the past 15 years.

Not only does she see a lot of pets that go by a lot of different names, she claims that she can see developing trends in those names.

"In the 80's" says O'Malley, "the ultimate fashion accessory was the 'Yuppie Puppy'". She says back then, her waiting room was full of cats named Puma and Reebok, plus upscale dogs that answered to names like Gucci, Dom Perignon and Ralph (as in Lauren).

She says that ten years ago, her dog patients let her know who the top dogs were in Hollywood, as well. In fact, she thinks Arnold Schwarzenegger may be the most popular source of most macho dog names — Arnie, Schwartz, Conan and Terminator to name just a handful.

"We saw lots of bull terrier puppies called Rocky and Rambo...but now these dogs are middle-aged, running to fat and hobbling in for arthritis tablets."

As for more 'sensitive' breeds — poodles, whippets, afghans and the like — Ms. O'Malley says snooty names such as Oberon, Heathcliffe and Wellington are not nearly as popular as they were a decade ago.

"In the gritty Nineties, you're more likely to meet a Bottom, Scud or Mutant."

High Fashion has left its mark on feline nomenclature. Bairbre spends a fair bit of her working day giving shots to Burmese and Siamese sporting names like Linda and Cindy. Twiggy, she says, is fast becoming a classic for long lean kitties that look like they could use a good meal.

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

Oh, and if you were wondering about pet names and the Information Highway, fret no more. Ms. O'Malley says 90's dogs and cats are 'on line'.

"Virus, Apple and Mac are very common these days. I even ran into a Ginger Tom called WordPurrfect."

Some pet owners are so computer savvy they can switch filenames if necessary. When Chippie, a German Shepherd pup remained a runt due to a hormone deficiency, the owner blithely switched his name to Microchip.

Ms. O'Malley's favourites? Well, there was the three-legged cat found abandoned in a phone booth. His foster parents christened him Tripod.

And there was the Tortoiseshell who was a champion mouser. They called him Cornflakes because he was a 'cereal killer'.

Then there was the spoiled Pekingese who never left his owners arms. Her name?

Laptop, of course.

BUSINESS TO BUSINESS

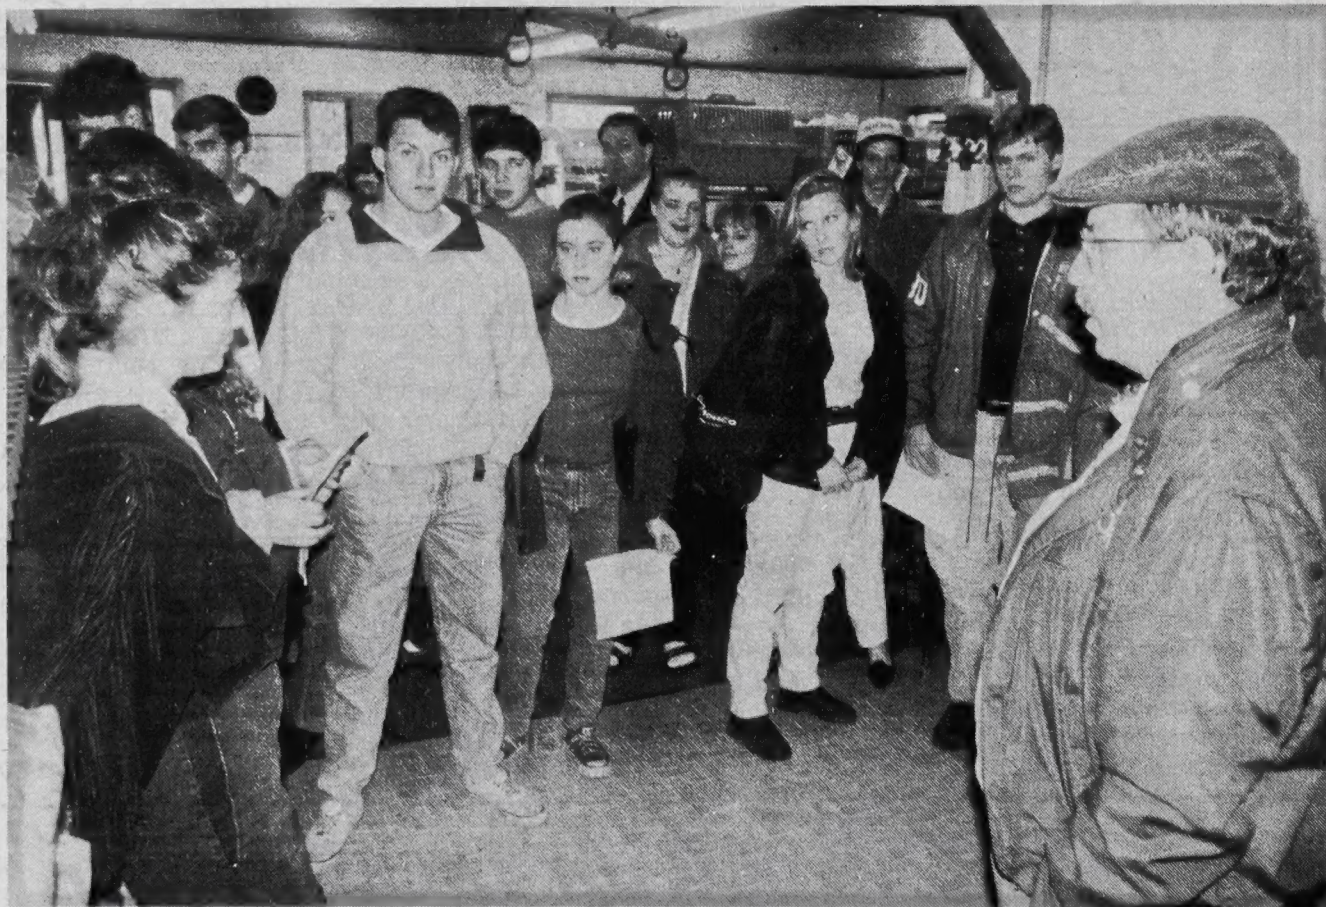

Another in the popular series of informal business meetings sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce is scheduled for 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday May 9 at Hart Lodge. Innkeeper Wayne Cowling will be the host. These get-togethers have been a popular event, allowing business people in the community to meet informally with fellow merchants. Guest speaker for the evening will be Haliburton Lawyer Ray Selbie who will talk on the new Substitute Decisions Act. The evening is open to all business people, whether they are members of the Chamber or not. Light refreshments will be served.

NEW MARINA

A business has changed hands and a new business has emerged in Haliburton. John Coneybeare of Coneybeare Motors has announced that he has sold his business. The new owner is Chris Wagg. In addition to retaining much of Coneybeare Motor's product line, Chris plans to expand the business to include a full service marina at the narrows between Lake Kashagawigamog and Head Lake. John Coneybeare will be staying on as mechanic for the new business.

STOP 35

Lewis Stevens has closed his Highway 35 restaurant Stop 35. His friendly face behind the counter will be missed. We understand there are big things in the offing for that choice location. More on that in future reports.

Budding entrepreneurs

Students in Mr. Irv Sternberg's retailing class at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School had an opportunity to talk with Minden businessman Jim McMahon recently. The students were exploring the benefits of being in business for oneself. The operator of McMahon Feeds 'n' Needs explained how he started in business, the need to clearly assess the market potential and to respond to changes in the market by altering his product line. The class had a brief tour of the store and had an opportunity to quiz the business owner.

Stewart triumphant in snowmobile racing come-back

by Jerry Grozelle

Take most competitors away from their sport for 10 years and their chances of regaining a place in the winner's circle are slim to none. Especially when the sport demands the sharp reflexes and physical agility of snowmobile racing.

For Minden's Steve Stewart, it's as though he had never been away. Stewart's come-back to snowmobile racing this season, after a 10-year absence, is the type that most racers can only dream about. Granted, at 32 years of age, he's hardly over the hill in a sport where most racers run out of nerve before they run out of stamina. Stewart has shown he still has the right combination of skill and nerve to vault back into victory lane. He has the trophies to prove it.

Stewart ran his Ski-Doo 440MXZ in three classes of the Canadian Snowcross Race Association (CSRA) and five classes of the Ontario Snowmobile Racing Federation (OSRF) series. Of the seven classes, he finished first in six and third in the other class.

In the CSRA series he took top honours in the semi-pro 2 (for up to 440cc machines) and the semi-pro 3 (sleds up to 600cc).

Even in the semi-pro open class, for sleds modified and over 600 he placed third overall, on his stock 440MXZ.

Stewart swept five of the OSRF classes, including semi-pro 2, semi-pro 3, semi-pro 4 and pro open, placing first overall in all four.

By age 22, Stewart had made an impressive name for himself in snowmobile racing. Ski-Doo offered him corporate sponsorship after just three years of sive racing circuit. He hopes his accomplishments over the past season won't go unnoticed and a coveted corporate sponsorship is offered again.

Stewart's friend and mechanic Jim Coltman went to all the races and helped him keep the sled in top running form.

"I'd like to thank my dedicated mechanic Jim Coltman," Stewart said. "And a special thanks to my wife Carla and my kids for their support."

"I'm glad to see I still have it (what it takes to win) after 10 years," Stewart said. "I know I can do better. I think I could dominate a little better. I wasn't physically in as good shape as I needed to be. That was mainly because we didn't know I would be racing until the week before I got the machine."

"I was quite happy with the machine and the way it ran. Next year, they've (Ski-Doo) got a new style and I think it's going to be a force to be reckoned with."

He plans to get into better physical shape and to do some dirt bike riding to keep in condition. His return to the racing circuit for the 1995-96 season may depend on sponsorship. He joked that even with the support of those sponsors who had faith in him this past season, he will have to work for the next three months to pay the bills that keep rolling in.

WINNING SEASON: Snowmobile racer Steve Stewart, seated on his Ski-Doo 440MXZ, and mechanic Jim Coltman, pose with a season's worth of championship trophies. Stewart was champion of six classes in two different series -- Canadian Snowcross Race Association and Ontario Snowmobile Racing Federation. This past season was Stewart's first year back on the racing circuit after a 10-year absence.

racing. At the time, his wife Carla was more important and snowmobile racing gave way to raising a family.

Thoughts of burning up the track continued to smoulder in the back of his mind and this past December, he jumped back into competition with both feet.

Thanks to his sponsors, Prentice-

Produmax Oil, KIMPEX, USI Skis and Woody's Traction Products, Stewart has been able to keep afloat in an expen-

HHSS seniors win team trophy at COSSA badminton championship

by Jerry Grozelle

Haliburton Highlands Secondary School has the best senior badminton team in central Ontario. The local team earned the most points in the COSSA (Central Ontario Secondary School Association) championships at I.E. Weldon Secondary School in Lindsay last Tuesday. The central Ontario competition featured the top four teams from the Quinte and Kawartha regions. Quinte includes schools from the Napanee, Belleville and Picton areas, while Kawartha includes Peterborough, Lindsay and Haliburton and surrounding area.

"Last year we tied with Kenner (Peterborough) for the COSSA team trophy," said HHSS senior badminton coach Ron Yake. "This year, nobody was even close."

Five of the six COSSA senior badminton players from HHSS have advanced to the OFSAA (Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations) by winning silver medals at COSSA.

Jonathan Bishop and Lindsay Francis were silver medallists in the mixed doubles division at Lindsay. Stacey Bunn and Jaime Kent earned a silver medal in the ladies doubles and Anna Tomlinson also brought home a silver medal in the ladies singles class.

Will Wallace finished a respectable fourth in the men's singles, but only the first and second place winners advance to OFSAA.

"The Kawartha side was a little stronger than the Quinte side," Yake said.

Yake said he was happy to see the improvement of his team members from the Kawartha championship to COSSA. He said that maintaining the second place positions at the higher level of competition required an improvement in play.

Wallace and Garbutt earn COSSA badminton gold in junior ladies' doubles

Jess Wallace and Janene Garbutt added the COSSA junior ladies' doubles badminton championship to their list of accomplishments. The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School duo were the gold medallists at the COSSA championship at Centennial Secondary School in Belleville last Wednesday.

They outplayed teams from Prince Edward Collegiate and East Northumberland Secondary in the final.

HHSS junior badminton coach Jennifer Paton said Wallace and Garbutt "played their best badminton of the season" at the COSSA competition.

Tiffini Cowan and Amber-Lee Cully entered the tournament as the third place team from Kawartha. They defeated the fourth-place Kawartha team from East Northumberland and the second-place Quinte team from Port Hope.

"This was their sweetest victory," said coach Paton. "They had lost to Port Hope in two previous tournaments."

In the end, Cowan and Cully had to settle for fourth place at COSSA after giving up a very close three-game match to Prince Edward.

"All in all, it was a very successful day for the two Haliburton teams," Paton said.

Garbutt and Wallace will compete in the OFSAA (all-Ontario) championship this week.

Minden Skating Club members and volunteers honoured

April 23 was awards day for the Minden skating Club. Following a pot luck dinner at the Minden Curling Club, several people were honoured for their efforts, both on and off the ice.

The Canscate A Award, sponsored by Laura and Rob Heming, for the most improved skater in novice II and III went to Terri Lynn Lumley.

The Canscate B Award, which is sponsored by Ontario Hydro, was presented to Mark Fisher. The award is for the most improved skater in novice IV and proficiency.

Louise Howell was the winner of the Peer Award, which is sponsored by Linda and Claude Schrader. The award goes to the skater who has been the most helpful, encouraging and pleasant to other skaters. As the name of the award suggests, it is the skaters in the test program who decide, by vote, who the winner will be.

The Test Achievement Award, for the skater in the test program who has passed the most Canadian Figure Skating Association tests during the season, went to Cheryl Ripley. The award is sponsored by Sandy Lane Resort.

Becky Wallace won the Minden Hearing Aid Award, sponsored by Gord Kidd. The award goes to the intermediate skater who has improved the most over the course of the season.

Janene Garbutt won the Coaches Award, sponsored by the club's professional coaches Jane Symons, David Hollows and Lisa Carr. The award this year was presented to the senior skater who has shown the most dedication over the season.

The Eligible Instructor Award, which is given in appreciation for many hours of teaching in the Canscate program, was presented to Kyla Grexton. The award is sponsored by Carolyn and Harris Steele.

The club's top award for skaters is the Skater of the Year Award. It is presented to a skater between the ages of seven and 12 years old, who exhibits spirit, talent, dedication, encouragement and help to others. The candidate must have passed any one or more of first figure, junior bronze dance and/or preliminary free, but not greater than second figure, senior bronze dance or junior bronze free.

This year's choice for the Skater of the Year Award was Kerri Matysek. The award is sponsored by Garbutt Enterprises.

Another prestigious honour is the Club Volunteer Award, which is sponsored by Boyd and Toni Carr. A long list of criteria must be met to qualify for this award. The volunteer's efforts must have been important to the club, in such areas as increasing membership or improvements to the club. Outstanding contributions to skating, attitude and effort that exemplify the spirit of volunteerism are also important. The candidate could be an "unsung hero", either a skater or dedicated volunteer who has done exceptional work for the benefit of the club.

Officials of the club felt that Leitha Grexton met those qualifications, so she was the recipient of the Club Volunteer Award for the 1994-95 season.

HONOUREES: Kerri Matysek (left) and Kyla Grexton were among the Minden Skating Club members who received awards at the club's annual banquet and awards presentations. Matysek was chosen Skater of the Year and Grexton received the Eligible Instructor Award.

Lutterworth sends thanks and $1,400

The Township of Lutterworth has shown its appreciation for the use its residents have of the Minden Arena with a cheque for $1,400. The money is to help offset some of the cost of operation.

Grade 8 students get first look at high school

by Misty Bennett, HHSS student reporter

The halls were filled with loud voices this past Wednesday, April 26. Of course, at HHSS that's nothing new; however, on this occasion the extra noise was during class and for once the teachers didn't seem to mind. Grade Eight Orientation Day strikes again!

HHSS was visited by local grade eight students from surrounding elementary schools including: Archie Stouffer, J. Douglas Hodgson and Cardiff.

The students came in two groups: one in the morning, from J.D.H. and the second in the afternoon comprised of students from Archie Stouffer and Cardiff.

The students were divided into smaller groups and were accompanied by a senior student (Peer Tutor) on a tour of HHSS. The tour included visits to the carpentry and machine shops as well as art and music classes where the groups were given demonstrations by the music class and were told about next year's art program. The groups also visited classrooms where subjects are taught and were able to participate in specially designed activities with this year's grade nine students.

Last year, the students coming for Orientation Day bought lunches from the cafeteria. Since the grade eight students were not spending a full day at the high school this year, the Peer Tutors provided snacks for the students at a nominal fee.

Peer Tutors enjoy a day - long leadership training session at Bark Lake Leadership Training Centre each summer before school ends. This year the trip is going to be an expensive proposition costing approximately $400. The students were hoping to raise money for the trip through the sale of baked goods to the grade eight students. States participant and Peer Tutor Tom O'Shaughnessy, "We hope to raise between $100 and $200 through this sale."

Jenny Hughey who took on the responsibility of organizing this event as her independent study for the Peer Tutoring course admits, "It's been harder than I expected."

Hughey planned the day with help from teacher Mrs.

Willis with two goals in mind. The first was "get the kids to know their way around the school" and the second: get the kids to "know the grade nines this year, so they'll know someone here next year."

Congratulations Peer Tutors on another successfully run Grade Eight Orientation Day. I'm sure that a great time was had by all!

A return to complete in-patient and emergency services both Emergency and In-patient services, I agreed to immediately provide my services for both Emergency and In-patient care on a 24 hour call basis, thereby picking up the remaining 50% until we had confirmation from Med Emerg (or other independent physicians). Assuming that Med Emerg would be willing to provide 25% of 24 hour Emergency and In-patient coverage, I would then cover the balance myself.

5. There would be a vote by the committee on April 27, 1995 to decide if this renewed 24 hour Emergency and In-patient coverage was beneficial to Minden Hospital and if they so voted in favour, it would then be re-implemented.

Later that day, I was talking to Mr. Paul Heffer of the Minden IDA. Mr. Heffer informed me that he was talking to Dr. Ramesh Zacharias of Med Emerg, who informed Mr. Heffer that they were willing to provide 24 hour call service to both Emergency and In-patients. My office contacted Med Emerg on April 26th to confirm what they could provide and was told the following:

1. 24 hour call coverage did not seem to be a problem as the physician would be there anyway.

2. Although they normally only provide Emergency-room physicians, they did not see any problem given the size of the Hospital, however, they were told that the In-patients were transferred out and the question of providing services to In-patients was not discussed.

I therefore wish to reassure the committee and the entire Minden community that the full physician complement to provide 24 hour Emergency and In-patient service is now available and I see no reason why this previous comprehensive service provided by the Hospital can not be reinstated.

One of the members of the committee expressed his dissatisfaction to me during the meeting that the Minden Hospital services is a County issue, not a Minden issue. I then made it perfectly clear that as a staff member of Minden Hospital, my primary concern was to provide the best possible care to the patients of Minden Hospital (who obviously, predominantly live in Minden).

Under the very recent new circumstances, patients living in Minden requiring Emergency services are now being diverted to Haliburton Hospital. Although this may only appear to be a nuisance of delay for the Minden residents, I have grave concerns for what apparently has not yet happened in the past few weeks, but will certainly happen in the future regarding cardiac arrests.

When a patient suffers a cardiac arrest, by far the most critically important step after CPR is to implement the Advanced Cardiac Life Support Protocols. Although semi-automatic defibrillators in the ambulances can be tried to restart the heart, by shocking it, this is obviously best accomplished in an Emergency Department where there is a team of doctors, nurses and ambulance attendants and intubation (establating an airway), intravenous lines and life-saving drugs (epinephrine, lidocaine, etc.) can all be given. If this care is provided within 4 minutes, there is a good chance of saving the patient's life and allowing the patient to enjoy a good quality of life. However, if these life support measures are given after six minutes, the chance of saving the patient's life is almost zero. In the rare case that the patient survives, there will be severe brain damage due to lack of blood supply to the brain and the patient can never be expected to enjoy any reasonable quality of life. They would rather, almost always, be a permanent coma patient in an Intensive Care Unit until they die.

Realistically, no Minden patient would ever survive a cardiac arrest if they had to endure a 20 minute ambulance ride to Haliburton Hospital. If they do live, they will certainly suffer severe brain damage. Suddenly Minden has become a hazardous place to live, as the main cause of death today remains cardiac arrests.

The issue of cardiac arrest (as well as Emergency trauma management such as in critical motor vehicle accidents, gunshot wounds etc.) was not raised at the meeting but should have been. Since I have practised in Minden from 1986, I have seen a number of patients survive cardiac arrests because of the Emergency (defibrillation) treatment provided at Minden Hospital. These patients left the Hospital to continue to enjoy a satisfactory quality of life. Unequivocally, this would not have occurred if they had required a 20 minute delay.

If the cardiac arrest issue was brought up at the committee meeting, I know that there would not have been one of the typical "Minden-Haliburton" rivalry issues

GUEST SPEAKER: Victoria-Haliburton MPP Chris Hodgson addressed the meeting of the Eastern Ontario Association of Chambers of Commerce meeting at PineStone Resort April 21. Hodgson told the leaders of the business community that the small business economy would be much more vital if the government would "get out of the way" and let them get on with business.

that have existed as long as the towns themselves. Instead, I fully believe that everyone in the entire Haliburton county would want patients who reside in Minden to receive the same chance of surviving a cardiac arrest as they have in Haliburton.

I therefore ask all members of the committee to seriously consider this critical care issue that has not yet been addressed. I feel confident that now we have received the full complement of physicians to staff Minden Hospital Emergency and In-patient services and that there should be a unanimous vote to reinstate full patient services at the Minden Hospital that has served us all well with comprehensive and compassionate care these many years.

"OUR WORK SPEAKS FOR ITSELF"

Moved and seconded...

Stanhope township's original municipal office and council chamber has been relocated. The move was carried out last week by Francis Thomas Contracting. Located on the Beech River, the structure served as the centre of municipal activities from 1910 to 1959. The building was moved to a site near the new municipal building on North Shore Road where it will be preserved as a historical museum. On the right, the building after it was removed from its stone foundation; Below, the turn onto North Shore Road required that some overhanging wires be lifted with a pole to allow the building to pass. Cards needed for crafts Easter Monday was rather quiet as some folks got the day off because they had to work on Good Friday.

Tuesday, things were back in full swing. Reverend Brian Parker conducted the chapel service. It was communion. The St. Paul's Anglican Church choir was in attendance.

In the afternoon, Dottie, Janice and I were busy assisting the residents with crafts. We are making all sorts of different decorations to go on the dinner tables on Mother's day. In the evening, Pearl Cowan and Corrine Arsenault held cards for the residents.

Wednesday morning Janice Rachar conducted fitness class in the auditorium. In the afternoon, Pearl called the numbers for a few games of bingo. In the evening there was music with Everett Fairey and Ted Robinson.

Thursday started out with that important fitness session. Joan Bunn and Rhonda Francis brought the dogs in for a visit. They strutted their stuff. Thursday afternoon was a tea party. It was catered by the Haliburton Church Women. Rev. Burgess and Pat Scott assisted the residents. One of the ladies played the spoons, one played guitar and another the piano.

Friday afternoon we had our usual happy hour. Our scheduled entertainment didn't arrive so one of our talented residents, Lucile Clarke entertained us on the piano. We all joined in. Jacqueline Chadwick, Ham Brown's daughter from Fort Erie was so kind to bring in 12 dozen home made cookies. They were delicious and the folks sure put a big hole in the box.

Saturday afternoon, Elva Deacon entertained on the piano.

Sunday afternoon, Estella Burch was back to read to the folks and in the evening Reverend Burgess held chapel service and Jean Mason played the organ.

We are in need of greeting cards, any but Christmas cards. We use them to decorate so many things. If you are cleaning out the junk drawers, please consider bringing them to the home.

Many thanks to everyone who helped make this week a pleasant one for the residents of Hyland Crest. They sure appreciate it.

Wear your sneakers on May 15

Polish up your sneakers, because it's soon time to hit the road for a bit of exercise.

May 15 has been declared Sneaker Day in Minden. The day kicks off two months of activities aimed at increasing awareness of fitness in everyone's daily lives.

On May 15 everyone is invited to join the walk, starting at the gazebo located next to the Main Street bridge. A short course has been laid out to give participants a "taste" of how much fun walking can be. Groups will leave the gazebo every 15 minutes between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Employers are being asked to encourage their staff to become involved in this project and, if possible, schedule work activities to permit participation. Those who are unable to make the walk are still encouraged to wear their sneakers to work to show their support.

Sneaker day in Minden will be part of a nationwide effort to promote physical activity during the summer. For more information, contact the Minden Sneaker Day Committee co-ordinator, Estella Burch at 286-6362.

V.E. Day service

A special Legion Service will be held this Sunday May 7 at the County Cairn in Minden, next to the library, to mark the fiftieth anniversary of Victory in Europe. The service is being co-ordinated by the Branch 636.

Veterans and members of the general public are invited to join in the commemoration. The service will begin at 3 p.m.

Seat belts

The Minden OPP remind the drivers of Haliburton County that it is illegal to operate a motor vehicle and not wearing an approved seat belt.

"Section 106 of the Highway Traffic Act regulates the use of seat belts. The fine for not wearing a seat belt, not repairing an inoperable one or for failing to ensure that your passengers under the age of 16 wear their seat belts or use approved child safety seats is $105.

Statistics gathered in the county indicate that there is still a high percentage of drivers who are not using their seat belts.

Open house

The public is invited to tour one of the stately homes of Haliburton County on Sundays during the month of May.

The former PineStone Resort executive house on Lake Kashagawigamog, now the residence of Ron and Mary Campbell, will be open to the public each Sunday from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

The open house is being held in support of the SIRCH Women's Emergency House in Haliburton. (Construction of that facility began last week.)

A $2 fee will be charged to visitors to the Campbell house which is located on North Kashag Road, off Highway 121.

AUDITORS' REPORT

TO THE MEMBERS OF COUNCIL, INHABITANTS AND RATEPAYERS OF THE CORPORATION OF THE
UNITED TOWNSHIPS OF LAXTON, DIGBY AND LONGFORD

We have audited the consolidated balance sheet of the Corporation of the United Townships of Laxton, Digby and Longford as at December 31, 1994 and the consolidated statement of operations for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Townships' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the United Townships as at December 31, 1994 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with the accounting principles disclosed in note 1 to the consolidated financial statements.

Toward a broader identification with Nature

We learn to see the world through the lenses of our individual beliefs and values acquired from personal experience, family and society. Society often contains a commonality of accepted truths and values that are so widely accepted they are seldom questioned.

We can't help seeing our surroundings through the perceptual filters of our preconceptions, yet the media continue to hold out an ideal of journalism that is "objective" and "balanced." Balance is not achieved within a story because any journalist's values influence the "facts" selected and the way they are juxtaposed and arranged to create a story. The best way to strive for balance is to have many journalists holding a wide array of world views. Yet in my experience, when assumptions inherent in today's economics, politics or business are questioned, the questioner is immediately accused of having a bias or "point of view."

Understandably, people in media are preoccupied with human affairs - wars, budget deficits, sports and entertainment. Even environmental stories are usually built around the human costs and benefits for health, aesthetics, jobs or the economy.

When wilderness habitats are invaded and species threatened with extinction, their preservation is often justified on their potential utility for human beings. Thus, it is pointed out that perhaps a quarter of the active ingredients of all medicines are natural compounds extracted from living organisms. When species disappear, a vast repertoire of potentially useful materials is also lost. It is also argued that wilderness may generate revenues through ecotourism or provide spiritual solace.

Everything we use in our homes and workplaces - metal, electricity, wood, plastic, food - comes from the earth. Our economic system is based on our need for them and their scarcity or abundance. Consequently, the future of oldgrowth forests, coral reefs or watersheds often rests on the merits of economic returns from protection or exploitation.

An "anthropocentric" ecological ethic recognizes that environmental protection is ultimately in our self-interest because as biological beings, we depend on the integrity of our surroundings for our very survival.

There is an alternate perspective called "biocentrism" that Bill Devall, co-author of "Deep Ecology" defines as "...a world view emphasizing that nature has intrinsic value, that is value for itself rather than only aesthetic, commodity or recreational value for humans; that humans have the capacity for broader identification with Nature as part of our ecological self; and that compassionate understanding is the basis for communication with Nature as well as with other human beings."

Reflections

by David Suzuki

"They want to protect trees and the spotted owl and don't care if people are thrown out of work."

To such criticism, the American poet Gary Snyder responds: "A properly radical environmentalist position is in no way anti-human. We grasp the pain of the human condition in its full complexity, and add the awareness of how desperately endangered certain key species and habitats have become...The critical argument now within environmental circles is between those who operate from a human-centred, resource-management mentality and those whose values reflect an awareness of the integrity of the whole of nature. The latter position, that of deep ecology, is politically livelier, more courageous, more convivial, riskier and more scientific."

When we acknowledge our dependence on the same biophysical factors - air, water, soil, biodiversity - that support all other life forms, the responsibility for "managing" all of it becomes a terrible burden.

In fact, it's an impossible task because in spite of the impressive sophistication and progress in science and technology, we have nowhere near enough information to understand, let alone predict and control, the behaviour of complex systems like watersheds, forests, oceans or the atmosphere.

Amidst the barrage of information from the print and electronic media, we must recognize the inherent biases that often flow from our anthropocentrism. For example, in all of the discussion about the catastrophic loss of northern cod or the fate of the oldgrowth forest of Clayoquot Sound, all of the "stakeholders" in the fishing, logging, tourism and native communities, seem to accept that the underlying economic and political institutions are beyond question or change even though they may very well be the very cause of the crisis.

By looking at the world through biocentric lenses, we may recognize the roots of our destructive path. The landscape may be uncomfortable and strange, but we can't afford to dismiss it as a lack of balance or simple bias.

Critics often accuse deep ecologists of being misanthropes, caring more for other species than our own fellow human beings. I've heard it said derisively:

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING REGARDING PROPOSED ZONING BY-LAW AMENDMENT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden will hold a PUBLIC MEETING to consider a proposed amendment to the Comprehensive Zoning By-law, pursuant to Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O., 1990, as amended.

The purpose of the amendment is to change the zoning, of approximately 2.42 hectares (6 acres) of land, located on Soyers Lake, at part of Lot 27, Concession 9, Township of Minden, from Rural (RU) to Residential Limited Service Exception Twenty-six (RLS*26), to fulfil a condition of Consent. The land affected by the proposed amendment is shown on the Key Map as the "Land to be re-zoned from RURAL to RLS*26".

The Public Meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. on May 25, 1995 at the Municipal Council Chambers, 7 Milne Street, Minden, Ontario.

A copy of the proposed amendment is available for review at the Municipal Offices during regular office hours. Any person interested may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of, or in opposition to, the proposed zoning amendment.

Dated at the Township of Minden, this 1st day of May, 1995.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Another sign of spring - the road crews have been busy taking the sand away from our streets - perhaps soon we'll get the much needed repairs done.

Georgina and Harold Parkes were in Toronto at the weekend to help Kelsey Westbrook, their granddaughter, celebrate her 6th birthday. They also attended her skating recital and all the family had a wonderful time.

Last day of the season for the Stanhope Shuffleboard group on April 25 starting with a great lunch at Club 35. Games followed at the Stanhope Centre and everyone enjoyed the games and the social time together. They will miss their Tuesday afternoon games.

I note with sadness the passing of Bill Coneybeare last week. Florence Robinson penned this little memory of Bill that we would like to share with you:

Minden has lost a well-respected and much loved man in the passing of William Coneybeare. When I first knew Bill he was only 17 and was a friend of my brother. At an early age he started to help in the butcher shop and he worked hard to prepare the meat for sale. He and his brother Lance Easton had a good grocery store on Main Street for several years. Money was very scarce at the time and many of us had to ask for credit until money came in. Bill was kind to everyone and no one had to do without food.

Later his son Allan had the store and now his grandson Chris is carrying on the name. The business started so many years ago has done well.

In closing, I join the community in extending sincere sympathy to Bill's family who will miss him so much.

County Town Museum committee is having a raffle to raise funds for the museum. Their yard sale is planned for Saturday, July 15 and they will be pleased to accept articles for the event (no clothing). Call 286-1682 for more information.

Trent McElwain spent last weekend visiting with his mother, Dorothy McElwain.

Book exchange was held at Minden Library last Thursday with some new and interesting volumes on the shelves. The hours of opening are Tuesdays 1:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 3 to 5 p.m. Thursdays 1 to 5 p.m. Fridays 3 to 5 p.m. and Saturdays 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Shirley Horsley and Mary Cox enjoyed a weekend in Bancroft with Basil and Darlene Cox.

Tommy Francis of Little Britain called on Ruby Francis one day last week.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of Harry Clark, Stuart Harrison, Richard Austin and Mabel Russell who passed away recently. Also sympathy to Ruth Samarillo on the loss of her brother Barry Taylor.

A memo from Ken Brown, a summer resident of South Lake - "Ladies, please note...South Lake cottagers Bob Martin, Kevin DeGrace and Ken Brown were among the winners of the recipe contest conducted by Cottage Life magazine. Prizes were awarded at the Cottage Show in Toronto." My, what a talented trio!

Join the Minden Lawn Bowling meeting on May 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the old curling rink. Info: 286-1578.

Club 35 euchre game winners for April 24 included Margaret Fletcher with most lone hands, Ruth Durkin and David Lamb with the highs and others Eleanor Bunker, Ivan Kernohan, Loretta Lamb. Special prizes went to Eleanor and Merv Bunker and the 50-50 draw to Betty Matthews. The next Wheels to Meals will be May 9 at 12 noon. A reminder too that the spaghetti dinner is on May 5 from 5 to 6:30 p.m. and the euchre tournament on May 11. Info: 489-3071 or 489-2634.

Get well wishes to Emma Hewitt, Helen Windsor and Molly McCarthy who are reportedly on the sick list.

Monday afternoon euchre games began again at the St. Paul's on April 24 with most lone hands going to Verna McDonald while other winners included Jack Chilton, Betty Hardy and Gladys Wruth. The draw went to Jeanne Sears and the games are held every Monday at 1:30 p.m.

April 25 saw the weekly afternoon bid euchre games at Minden Legion with winners for the day being Verna McDonald, Marg McAfee and Mary Coltman.

Also on April 25 the Stanhope bridge club winners were Beth Crutchley, Betty Culley and Russ Fair. Games begin at 1 p.m. and all welcome.

Euchre game winners at Gelert Centre on April 25 were Audrey Vick, Reta Crofts, Bruce O'Brien, Truman McNeil and lone hands to Dorothy McElwain. Next games at Gelert are May 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Over forty people enjoyed their weekly bid euchre games at Stanhope April 26. Moonshots went to Margaret Fletcher, Ken Wallace, Brian Henderson and Neil Griffin. Other winners included Evelyn Griffin, Betty Skinner, Jean Scadden, Don Burch, Harry Hodgson, Neil Griffin, Norma Hodgson and for hidden score, Marion Hill. These games have always started at 7 and we hope no one arrived late last week.

Branch 636 Minden Legion euchre game winners for April 19 included Anne McCreight and Frank Sargent with most lone hands, Iris Taylor and May Bradbury with the highs and Helen Skelding, Ken Young, Elli Langpohl, Irene Fuhr, Jessie Preston, E. MacDonald and T. Kenneth. The winners for 26th included Judith Merrit and Pete Learn with most lone hands, Lila Mitchell and Gladys Wruth with the highs and Eliz. MacDonald, Orval Francis, Ralph Schroter and Marg McAfee.

Golden Rules for Living

1. If you open it, close it.
2. If you turn it on, turn it off.
3. If you unlock it, lock it up.
4. If you break it, admit it.
5. If you can't fix it, call someone who can.
6. If you borrow it, return it.
7. If you value it, take care of it.
8. If you make a mess, clean it up.
9. If you move it, put it back.
10. If it belongs to someone else, get permission to use it.
11. If you don't know how to operate it, leave it alone.
12. If it's none of your business, don't ask questions.

CARDS OF THANKS

To everyone for the care, concern, kindness, love and prayers over the past five months - we thank you.
God Bless you all.
The Bill Coneybeare Family.

On behalf of the Haliburton County Horsemen's Association, I should like to express my thanks to John and Rhonda Francis for their hospitality, to Gail Perrin for bringing her horse out for the demonstration and for all who came out to make it an enjoyable day.
W.K.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all our dear friends, neighbours and relatives for their kindness, gifts of food, fruit baskets, flowers, cards of good wishes, visits and many phone calls during Helen's illness. Many thanks to the VON nurses for their kind care and Home Care for all their work well done. Many thanks to all.
Garth and Helen.

IN MEMORIAM

CALVERLEY, Catherine (Cath) - Lost to us May 3, 1992. Please God, forgive a silent tear, A fervent wish my Cath was here.

There are others; this I know
But she was mine, I loved her so.
Dear God, take a message
To my Cath in heaven above,
Tell her how much I miss her
And give her my Love.
Jack.

WARBURTON, Donna-Lynn - In loving memory of our dear daughter who passed away April 29, 1965.

Beautiful memories
Are wonderful things,
They last till the longest day,
They never wear out
They never get lost,
And can never be given away.
To some you may be forgotten,
To others, a part of the past,
But to us who loved you and lost you,
Your memory will ever last.
Too dearly loved ever to be forgotten,
Mommy and Daddy.

BRYANT, Luella - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away May 7, 1991.

We mourned for her in silence;
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
Sadly missed and always remembered by Sheila, Marlene, Christopher and Sharon.

IN MEMORIAM

BRYANT, Luella - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who left us May 7, 1991.

She was the most beautiful person
Why did she have to go?
She did no harm to anyone
We all loved her so.
But I know deep down inside my heart
That she is in God's care,
And one day we will meet again
In Heaven, we will see her there.
Always loved and sadly missed by daughter Shirley and granddaughter Andrea.
